Exercise

- Add the Phone field to the registration form. Make it required and limited to 50 characters. Ensure that when a new user registers, their phone number is saved to the database.
- Remember that we have two registration forms: one for standard registration and the other called by external (social) login providers.
- Protect all movie management operations and restrict them to store managers.
- Extract view model classes you modify as part of this exercise, and put them in separate files in the ViewModels folder. Multiple classes in a single file is a poor coding practice that you should avoid at all times, because it makes it hard for others to find these classes.
- Extract the two classes in Models\IdentityModels and put them in separate files.
